

intravag®

Vaginal Probe

- Made in Iran by Hormoz Kian Company
- Verified by Iran Ministry of Health
- ISO13485:2016 certified
- Compatible with any type of EMG Biofeedback and electrical stimulation
- Ergonomic design and easy placement
- Used as vaginal for women
- Packed during the disinfection process
- Washable and reusable frequently for one patient

Features of intravag® vaginal probe

The intravag® vaginal probe with ergonomic design is used for treatment disorders related to the pelvic floor muscles in women.

The intravag® vaginal probes are disinfected and it has isolated package which closed completely after each use.

This probe is compatible with most EMG biofeedback and electrical stimulation devices.

The structure of the intravag® probe is completely waterproof; for reusing just wash it with soap and water.

standards

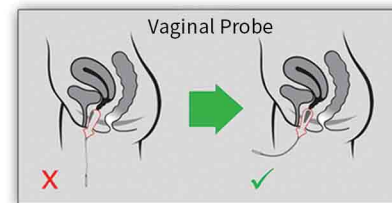

The intravag® vaginal probe has ISO10993 and IEC60601 certification for safe operation, which does not cause any side effects or harm to the patient.

The intravag® vaginal probe does not protrude during treatment due to its ergonomic structure.

User tips

To use the intravag® probe, it is necessary to read the instructions on the back of the package by the physician and the patient carefully!

In order to get desired performance of intravag® vaginal probe, should be used in correct angle as shown below.

Produced by:

Hormoz Kian Medical Engineering Company

Head Office:

No. 202, Unit 4, East Ferdows Blvd., Sadeghieh Sq.,
Tehran, Iran

Tel: +9821 4496 4335

Fax: +9821 4404 2631

Web: www.hormoz-kian.com

Email: info@hormoz-kian.com

